

Department of English English Minor

We're driven to explore language — written and spoken — to enrich lives and impact change in the world. Together, we foster a greater appreciation for the role human creativity plays in society. In addition to professional and public writing, students of all majors can pursue their interests through a minor in English or certificates in linguistics, film or exile studies.

Students from any discipline can minor in English and gain its advantages. First, students expand their knowledge of literature written in English, deepening the liberal arts portion of their undergraduate education. Second, in the courses that the Department of English offers, writing skills are emphasized, so students should learn to develop complex and sophisticated arguments through the analysis of literary work. The training students receive in these courses can prepare them for careers in which writing and editing are of the greatest significance, or in which critical thinking skills are valued.

Required Courses:

15 Upper Division Credits of approved English courses. A grade of “C” or higher is required in all courses counted toward the minor.

English courses prefixes:

AML, CRW, ENC, ENG, ENL, FIL, LIN, LIT

Courses must be 3000 or 4000 level

.

Total credits required: 15

For more information and to view list of courses visit the University Undergraduate Catalog.