

CASE RESEARCH DEVELOPMENT

WHAT WE DO

We work with investigators and scholars to catalyze innovation and discovery. Our team is committed to the success of faculty and student research initiatives and increasing the College's research capacity and competitiveness.

HOW WE HELP

- Identification of funding opportunities
- Interdisciplinary team formation and management
- Proposal development, including drafting outlines, tracking proposal requirements, and assembling necessary documents
- Revision and resubmission of declined proposals, including interpreting reviewers' comments
- Coordination with ORED pre-award representatives
- Development of research resources, templates, and trainings
- Design of broader impact plans

PROPOSAL DEVELOPMENT

Large & Collaborative Proposals

Our team focuses on providing assistance in the development of large, interdisciplinary and collaborative proposals. We work with principal investigators and teams of researchers to support the creation, planning, and coordination of competitive proposals.

Individual Researchers & Smaller Proposals

Our team is also available to help and guide individual researchers in the development of their proposals and provide resources.

GET STARTED

Reach out to our team as early in the proposal preparation process as possible. We can assist from team formation, all the way through proposal submission.

While we do not replace ORED's pre-award functions, we ensure that proposals are in the best and most complete form possible before they are sent to ORED for review and submission.
